I do not know why they use a package called @types/adonis, I can't seem to find this anywhere in the npm repository. It seems that there is an issue with the client using my generated client config with the type script: Unhandled rejection Error: Error: You do not seem to have the Adonis.Client installed. For the repository if any, see my full command: typings install @adonisjs/cli --global --save typings install @adonisjs/client --global --save typings install @adonisjs/client-browser --global --save npm install adonis install adonis start A: It seems that I have fixed the issue with the typings. I'm not sure what happened, I had to uninstall @types/adonis from my computer and reinstall it. Then I installed @types/adonis and it worked. I hope this helps anyone else with the same issue.
