Q: How to change folder permissions for only one folder using applescript? I have a situation where I have to create a folder for one user only, and leave the rest of the data alone. I've tried to use info for me, and group, but the script doesn't seem to want to change permissions. I don't know if it's possible to open the folder with Access Control on OS X, but i can see a utility for it, however i don't know which OS it's for or if it's compatible with macOS (10.11), and how to convert it for my needs. Any ideas? A: 2edc1e01e8

1. Download the yeasychange.exe utility from the following link: 2. Open the EasyChange.ini file and add the following lines: Code:
C:\Picture\ (create the directory Picture in the root directory of your c64). 3. Run the EasyChange.exe file. 4. Select the WallpaperDirectory, WallpaperFileName and repeat it for the DirectoryName and DirectoryNameFileName as shown in the following image: Click to download the yeasychange.ini file. Explanation of the WallpaperFileDirectory value: The WallpaperFileDirectory value allows you to change the directory that holds the pictures for the wallpaper. If you have two pictures in the same folder for the wallpaper (wallpaper directory), you should use the WallpaperFileDirectory value to specify the second picture that you want to use. If you leave the WallpaperFileDirectory value blank or not set, the default value (see the screenshot above) will be used. The default value for the WallpaperFileDirectory is the directory that holds the files, so if you want to change the directory of the files, you should use the WallpaperFileDirectoryFileDirectory value. More information about the WallpaperFileDirectory value can be found at:

Explanation of the WallpaperFileName and WallpaperFileNameFileDirectory values: The WallpaperFileName and WallpaperFileNameFileDirectory values allow you to choose the file that contains the pictures for the wallpaper. The WallpaperFileName value specifies the file that contains the picture for the wallpaper, e.g.

Picture01.jpg, Picture02.jpg, etc.
The WallpaperFileNameFileName value specifies the file that contains the name of the picture that is displayed as the wallpaper (the name of the file that is selected with the WallpaperFileName value). This allows you to have a file and a directory for the wallpapers and it will change the wallpapers to show whichever file has been selected. More information about the WallpaperFileName and WallpaperFileNameFileName values can be found at: More information about the WallpaperDirectory value can be found at: Explanation of the DirectoryName and
